Visiting troops expected to spend $5 million

By SPC Richard Adams

Summertime brings with it many traditions — picnics, family reunions, the end of school — and the annual migration of the National Guard to Crawford County.

More than 7,000 troops are in the Grayling area this week to take part in two weeks of training. The numbers are up considerably from last year, when many units from Michigan were exempt because of their involvement as part of Operation Desert Storm.

The training began last Saturday for most of the troops and will continue until June 27.

The Guard members are participating in a scenario that places them in support of a fictitious democratic government in Latin America.

On Friday the annual parade will occur on camp. Governor John Engler is the keynote speaker, and Maj. Gen. E. Gordon Stump, Michigan's Adjutant General, also will address the gathering of soldiers, their families, and community members at the parade.

One change that should benefit Grayling-area merchants this year is reconstitution days, or those days when many soldiers are not working and are free to spend leisure time in the communities surrounding Camp Grayling.

This year, for most soldiers, reconstitution days are Saturday and Sunday. In the past, most of the soldiers had free time during the week and were still in the field during the weekends.

That should be beneficial to merchants in the area. Soldiers involved in annual training are expected to pump some $2.5 million into the local economy. The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce estimates that each soldier spends $250 locally during the two-week period.

For all of 1992, the economic impact on the Grayling area by visiting troops will reach an estimated $5.06 million, said Maj. Jerry Foehl, public information officer at Camp Grayling. He bases that figure on the more than 20,000 soldiers from Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana who train at the base throughout the year.

School Board to discuss new community bond issue June 22

The Crawford AuSable School District Board of Education will hold a special meeting to finalize its September bond issue date, components and budget on Monday, June 22, at 7 p.m. in the Grayling Middle School Conference Room.

The school board plans to place a bond issue before the voters that would address the facility and technological needs of the district well into the 21st century.

The scope of the project would be multi-faceted, including a new high school, designed for the employability and technological needs of the coming century; renovation of the existing high school for use as a middle school (grades 6-8); placement of students in grades 3-5 into the existing middle school; energy, space and site improvements to Frederic Elementary School (which would remain K-4); and renovations and additions to Grayling Elementary School to address the curricular needs of preschool-grade 2.

Preliminary design concept work has been performed by the architectural firm of GBKB of Traverse City. GBKB completed facilities studies and provided conceptual designs for building construction and renovation.

Their work has allowed the school district and the construction management firm of Elzinga & Volkers to perform cost estimates.

"GBKB demonstrated a unique sensitivity to the space needs of the district, particularly at the elementary level," said Kent Reynolds, CASD superintendent. "They worked with the district during the last two years to assist in conceptual design development for the failed bond issue proposals for an additional elementary school."

For their work with the school district, GBKB has associated with the full-service architectural firm of TMP of Bloomfield Hills.

TMP, which will take primary responsibility for conceptual design work for the high school, has received national architectural awards for high school design.

Murder suspect captured here

A murder suspect was apprehended in Crawford County early Tuesday morning following a search by six law enforcement agencies.

James Adams, 51, of Roscommon, was arraigned Tuesday in 83rd District Court on an open murder charge and is being held without bond at this time in the Roscommon County jail. Adams is accused of the shooting death of his ex-wife, Jane Adams, 35, also of

Boy swept over falls, woman breaks ankle during rescue attempt

Twelve-year-old Hunter Williams of Grayling was carried over the waterfall while swimming near the downtown dam Saturday, June 13, around 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Sylvia Osborne, of Grayling, saw the boy in trouble below the ten-foot waterfall and jumped in to help him.

Grayling City Police, Northlight Ambulance, and Michigan National Guard personnel helped both out of the river farther downstream. Williams was taken to Mercy Hospital for observation. Mrs. Osborne suffered a broken ankle during the rescue and was also taken to Mercy Hospital.

Crawford County recycling program to be expanded

City Management Corporation (CMC) will be expanding the current recycling program in Crawford County.

City Management will be meeting with members of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce and the community to discuss methods to increase participation in the recycling program. The following issues will be discussed to increase recovery of source separated recyclable materials:

* Increase accessibility and ease-of-use of existing drop-off sites available to the public.

* Provide additional supervision at all public drop off sites to ensure the quality of materials collected; and to prevent accidental contamination of materials in the containers.

* Construct new drop-off sites that can be easily accessed, and supervised.

* Construct a processing facility to sort and prepare for market the source separated materials collected from the expanded drop-off program.

These topics will be discussed at this month's "Eggs & Issues" meeting on Thursday, June 18, at 8 a.m. at the Grayling Holiday Inn. Cost for breakfast is $6 for Chamber Members and $7.50 for Non-Members. Reservations can be made by calling the Chamber office, ask for Heidi.

AuSable River Festival Parade filling with bands

Music, music, music! That's what parade spectators of the 1992 AuSable River Festival parade will hear on Saturday, July 25th.

The parade committee, chaired by Marcia Koppa, has six bands already committed to play in this year's summer festival parade. Many of the bands coming to the Grayling Festival this summer have a long and wonderful history of playing in parades and events around the U.S. and Canada.

Some of the bands that play in the parade charge a fee to come. The fee covers the band's travel expenses, sheet music, etc. This year the parade committee decided to try something different to help reduce the cost of the parade. Since the bands are the biggest part of the budget it was decided to try to obtain special sponsors for the bands that have a fee. Mercy Hospital is the first band sponsor—they will sponsor the Glen Erin Pipe Band.

Bands committed to play are: The Sault Saint Marie Pipe and Drum Band, a group of 14 to 20 dedicated musicians who have been participating in parades throughout the U.P. and Canada for the past 50 years. They have competed in Alma, MI, and played for the Queen of England during her last visit to Canada.

The Fir-eunn Og Gaelic Pipe Band of 13 players was founded in 1968 under the direction of Pipe Major Alan Wilson under the name Grand Rapids Pipe Band. The band has competed in numerous highland games in Michigan, Illinois, and Canada. Most notable of these competitions were the 1975 World Scottish Festival in Toronto, Canada, and the 1980 Highland Games in Dunedin, Florida. In the 1980s the band went through many changes in membership, uniforms, tartan, pipe major, and a renaming of the band to Fir-eunn Og which means, "young eagles" in Gaelic.

The Glen Erin Pipe Band-Scot & Gaelic Band was formed ten years ago by combining elements of the MacLeod of Lewis Pipe Band of St. Johns and the Clan MacNeil Band of Lansing. Since they play both Scottish and Irish music, the name Glen Erin is most appropriate. The band members come from all over the lower part of Michigan and practice in Dewitt. They play at many cultural events, piping competitions, and parades each year. They have competed at Highland Games in Canada, Illinois, Ohio, and Indiana as well as in Michigan, including the Alma Highland Games. They consider it important to continue the musical traditions of the Celtic heritage and want to bring classical music to the colonies.

Tittabawassee Fife & Drum Corp.—Revolutionary War has 40 people. This group is made up of 15 fifes, four snares, two bass, seven to eight flags and three to six militia with real guns. They love parades and festivals and look forward to coming to Grayling.

126th Army Band of the Michigan National Guard has been entertaining people for over sixty years. Based in Grand Rapids, the band has earned praise from music critics and audiences alike. The band is unique since most of its 50 members are not professional musicians but hold a variety of jobs ranging from minister to teacher to nurse and carpenter. The Band Director, Chief Warrant Officer Paul Walters, says shifting from their civilian jobs to being part of a band is a test of professionalism for his musicians.

This 126th Army Band is one of the premier Army bands. In 1989 they represented U.S. NATO forces at the "Royal Tournament" in London, England, on the occasion of NATO's 40th anniversary.

Grayling High School Viking Band a 70-member group under the leadership of Dennis Ormsbee. This exceptional high school band has received many honors during the past few years under Mr. Ormsbee's direction. This past spring alone the band received a number 1 rating at the District Band Festival and a number 11 rating at the State Festival. Three of the band members were nominated to audition for the State Solo Festival, only 120 students from a field of 6,000 were selected. Grayling had the distinction of five band members being nominated for the State of Michigan Honors Band.

This summer during the Festival Parade several members of the Middle School Band will be playing in the High School Band in preparation for their move into the 9th grade this fall. The Middle School Band, also under the direction of Mr. Ormsbee, received a 1 rating at both the District and State Band Festivals this spring.

PLAYING IN RIVER FESTIVAL PARADE--THE GLEN ERIN PIPE BAND (LEFT) AND THE FIR-EUNN OG GAELIC PIPE BAND (TOP) WILL BE PARTICIPATING IN THE AUSABLE RIVER FESTIVAL PARADE.

Beaver Creek burning permit

be obtained from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

According to Chief Ed Holtcamp of the Beaver Creek Township Fire Department, the DNR monitors conditions continually and is the source his department would use in determining whether a permit should be issued. Violations will still be issued from the fire department as well as law enforcement agencies and the DNR.

Burning permits, required other than for heating and cooking, are issued for brush and leaves only. No other materials may be burned. Permission can be granted for one to three days and in most cases are given over the phone.

There are restrictions and permits can be cancelled if conditions change. A permit is not a release from any liability. Burning without a permit is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $100 and/or 90 days in jail, plus court costs.

DNR fire officer Duane Brooks said that as many as 400 requests have been logged in a month but that they usually run around 200 to 250 per month. No permits are being issued this month and none will be granted until the area gets rain.

Literature is available and the DNR also visits groups to give programs on how to handle fires. For information, call the DNR at 517/348-6371.

TO THE VOTERS OF COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT #4

I would like your support as I pursue re-election as your county commissioner. Mudslinging, half-truths, and innuendos have no place in an election. The end result of this activity is a negative effect within our community.

It will be my policy during this campaign to stress the positive aspects of my past four years, and to reinforce my commitments to you. If anyone would like to discuss specific topics I will make myself available to you, or your group.

Reader says road signs are needed

"Where oh where did the road signs go?"

Ever try to find your way along M-72 East, or M-18, or a lot of other places in Crawford County?

Having a little trouble, Bunky?

Between McMasters Bridge Road and M-18, which do not have road signs, by the way, and the Grayling City limits there are seven signs missing at the major cross roads. Our road sign for Old 144 has been missing for two years now. Calls and even a visit to the Crawford County Road Commission requesting a sign a year and a half ago fell on deaf ears. Finally, the neighbors got together and made one and erected it.

Is it really too much to ask that we have adequate road signs? Trying to give directions to someone is a joke and God forbid we should ever have to call 911 with an emergency — they'd never find you!

Come on people — our taxes should entitle us to this courtesy and necessity.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

It sure seems nice to be able to spend time on the weekend checking out garage sales. Just to meet some of those nice folks makes my sorties worthwhile even if I don't find a thing to buy. I consider myself to have been blessed by being allowed to live my life here among the greatest folks to be found anywhere. Although we at times might be divided on a certain issue we all join hands when it comes to the really major ones. For instance, everyone's pal Raymond Pease is doing very well and today just seems like any normal two and a half year old boy. Anyone who helped in any way can take a great deal of pride in the way our community responded to his need. I know everyone joins me in wishing Raymond a long and productive life. Just knowing there is the fountain of goodwill out there to help in time of need makes living here a real privilege. We all hope we never have to go to that fountain but just to know it is there makes us all rest easier. Though there are many churches, clubs, lodges, etc., a real need dissolves any differences we may have. To the young folks who are so anxious to leave the home town behind, I know someday you will be even more anxious to return.

I guess I had better have a yard sale of my own pretty soon or I will be crowded right out of the house. I am a guy that just can't walk away from a bargain even if it is something I have no need for. So over a period of time I wind up with a lot of goodies I have absolutely no use for. I think if I had a forty room house I'd soon be short on storage space.

Well the old man's guardian angel has come through for me again. I had bought a little bath tub row boat at a yard sale thinking it would serve as a good boat for blue gill ponds. Well today I decided to go up to Lost Lake to try it out. Lost Lake lies up in the north west part of the county across the Manistee from Deward. It has been my favorite lake from childhood because not too many people go there. I was a little disappointed today when I got there to find a pickup sitting there and loaded my fishing gear in. I was soon aboard my little boat and started away from shore. I had only gone a few feet when somehow the little boat tipped over and dumped me into the lake. The water was shallow but the mud was deep and there was no way I could regain my feet. The more I struggled the worse it got and I faced the idea I was going to drown in about two feet of water. It seemed ironic, but there was just no way I was going to get out without help. Then my guardian angel took over and the two men from the pickup I had been sorry to see, arrived to give me the help I needed to get ashore. I thank those two men and my guardian angel that I will see the sun rise tomorrow. Thank You Lord.

Showcase community in parade

Dear Grayling Community,

As the mascot for the 1992 Grayling AuSable River Festival parade I want to remind all businesses and organizations that a fabulously fun way to feature their group, show community pride and spirit, and have creative bonding with your staff is to put an entry in the Saturday, July 25th festival parade.

Remember the parade theme this year is "Michigan's Four Seasons" so get those creative juices flowing about what makes our area special all year around. You could even take a trophy home.

Let's get those applications into the parade committee as soon as possible. If you need more information or an application, please call Marcia Koppa, 348-3635 or Linda Albee, 348-8761. In Grayling, the fun never stops!

See you in the parade,
A Grayling Booster

Will Perot's pros backfire?

H. ROSS PEROT apparently figures he's really going to run for president in 1992.

He reached into the professional political world the other day and picked out a couple of plums.

For one of his top campaign advisors, he hired Hamilton Jordan, who ran Jimmy Carter's Democratic presidential campaigns in 1976 and 1980, and was Mr. Carter's White House Chief of Staff.

Mr. Perot, at the same time, paired Mr. Jordan with Republican Edward Rollins, who has been a top political hand in top Republican circles for several years, and was Republican President Ronald Reagan's campaign manager in 1984.

Reports indicated Mr. Perot would pay each man $1 million for his efforts.

AS GOOD POLITICAL advisors should, both Mr. Jordan and Mr. Rollins repeated the gospel when the public announcement of their new roles was made.

"I see a new movement coming," said Mr. Rollins.

"I believe in this man," said Mr. Jordan.

Perhaps significantly, Mr. Perot did not appear at the news conference called at his Dallas headquarters to announce the twin signings.

He told a CNN interview that he would really be running the whole show anyway.

"I'll be my own person," Mr. Perot said.

The Associated Press story about the appointments indicated Mr. Rollins would handle "daily operation of Perot's campaign," while Mr. Jordan "will serve as chief strategist." They both will report to Tom Luce, a longtime Perot associate and overall campaign chairman, AP reported.

SIGNING ON TWO powerful political handlers such as Mr. Rollins and Mr. Jordan is a departure from the way Mr. Perot's unannounced candidacy has been handled so far.

Up to now, the Perot experience has been centered on individuals, who have been collecting petitions, talking him up and otherwise boosting the Perot political legend from the grass roots level.

That's the way Texas tycoon Perot has been playing his hand, too. Oh, he put on an experienced newspaper editor, James Squires, as a new media assistant. But dipping into the well of professional politics for not one, but two such prominent movers and shakers strayed from the script. It brings into question Mr. Perot's self-claimed image as a non-politician.

What happens now depends on how Mr. Perot — and the Rollins-Jordan duo — perform.

If it appears that the pros are taking over the populist, Mr. Perot could suffer from the move.

But if the political pros stay in the background, and work the landscape the way they have in the past for their former champions, thus permitting Mr. Perot to continue his image of independence and non-partisanship, then the move definitely could help.

GOING TO BOTH sides of the political fence for his campaign leaders was a stellar stroke by the Perot forces.

As all recent polls indicate, there is still a lot of unrest and dissatisfaction with the two major parties and their candidates.

Mr. Rollins now provides a respectable and effective conduit for disaffected Republicans to back the Perot effort, either openly or covertly. He knows Republicans, big and small, around the country.

Mr. Jordan provides the same sort of entry into the Perot camp for disaffected Democrats. Although probably not as prominent in current party activism as Mr. Rollins on the other side of the spectrum, Mr. Jordan could be especially effective in big city politics, as well as rural politics. He, too, could be a big help to Mr. Perot.

What all this means, of course, is that if there was any doubt that Mr. Perot was a serious candidate for president, that doubt is now gone.

But in this strange, unpredictable political year, it would be unsafe to bet very much even on that probability.

Notes From The Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

It is Thursday morning of the last full week of school before summer vacation. Throughout the school district, students are climbing out of bed reluctantly, suddenly noting the temperature rising on their outdoor thermometers, cursing the bad luck that keeps them in the classroom rather than at the beaches.

Not so at our house. My two little school girls—Molly and Bonnie—jump eagerly and willingly into the back seat of the pick-up truck when I open the door for them. They're ready and happy to be off to school.

Hurry up—they communicate clearly. We can't wait to get to our classroom, see our teacher, be with our friends, begin our lessons.

My girls are two ten-month-old dogs, selected by Dave last fall at the Animal Shelter of Crawford County. They look like black Labrador retriever crosses, but the only thing we know for sure about their ancestry is their July 26 birthdays.

The class they can't wait to reach is Tony Diola's categorical room at the high school. The friends they can't wait to see are all of his students and his dogs, Kasey, Alex and Samantha. The lessons they can't wait to learn involve sitting and staying and coming and heeling.

Diola's class is home base to the students with the most severe handicaps, usually more than one.

It's called a categorical room because the students fall into categories—LD (learning disabled), SLI (speech/language impaired), EMI (educable mentally impaired), TMI (trainable mentally impaired), EI (emotionally impaired), for example.

His kids must spend half of each school day in his classroom. The more impaired they are, the more time they spend in the categorical room.

WORLD'S BEST TEACHING AIDE

An excellent teacher in his own right, Diola is nevertheless probably best known around the school for being the owner of Kasey, a chocolate Lab who functions as his aide and teaching tool and friend to all. He takes her to school regularly, where she fulfills several functions.

First of all, she's a self-esteem builder. With Kasey, Diola's kids always feel good about themselves.

"She treats them pleasantly, nicely and consistently. They can depend on her to give them a lick in the face or a handshake whenever they need it," he explains.

Also, Kasey helps build a sense of pride among the kids in the categorical room because, with her presence, they have something the other classes don't have.

"It makes them feel as proud to come to this class as someone else might feel going to Advanced Placement Math," says Diola.

Having Kasey also improves social interaction between his students and the others.

These kids are often "the outcasts, the misfits of a school," he says. But, simply by her presence, Kasey entices visitors into the room, which then helps break down the barriers that normally exist between the two groups.

Furthermore, by working with Kasey, his students are exposed to both the trainer's and the trainee's roles and they have to learn to react appropriately.

Diola seems as proud of his students as they are of Kasey. He says, for example, that he had tried to make her roll over for a year without success. One day, he and the kids were discussing VAKT (Visual/Auditory/Kinesthetic/Tactile) learning and decided to try that approach with Kasey. They showed her what to do; they told her what to do; they rolled her over—and she learned the trick.

"The kids did 100% of the training," says Diola.

THE GIRLS START SCHOOL

Kasey is a marvelous animal with impeccable manners and fine upbringing.

Conversely, Molly's and Bonnie's best trick was streaking off across the road in pursuit of low-flying robins while simultaneously ignoring my screamed and repeated command, "Get back here right now and I really mean it."

"Kasey is so wonderful," I said wistfully one day. "I wish you'd work with my girls."

"Bring 'em in," he offered.

"You got a deal," I answered.

Next week, they're in school.

As grand an opportunity as this was for Molly and Bonnie, Diola wasn't being entirely magnanimous. He also wanted them to function as guinea pigs for his students, two little blank slates with which he could teach them about the process of learning itself.

REAL LIFE SKILLS

The class discussed and utilized different training techniques, including behavior modification and positive reinforcement.

They learned about control and responsibility. Usually someone else controls and takes responsibility for his kids. With the dogs, they had to control, to act responsibly—or risk harm to their charges.

And—just as with Kasey's roll over trick—the students did nearly all the training with Molly and Bonnie.

"I rarely handled them except to show the proper stance," says Diola. "We'd agree on a command and then they'd do it."

"And," he adds, "it was really fun to have a mature dog (Kasey), teenagers (Molly and Bonnie) and infants (his Great Dane pups Alexandra and Samantha)."

"It was an excellent learning experience. The kids could relate the adult dog to what their parents go through. I'd ask, 'Would you treat Kasey the same as the puppy? No, you wouldn't expect as much from Alex. You have to train the younger ones differently from the mature one.'"

He says also that it was useful to see Molly and Bonnie and Alex and Sam make mistakes because Kasey simply doesn't make them anymore.

"Dogs mature faster than humans, but go through essentially the same stages, including rebellion, defiance and insecurity. My students are concrete learners, so working with the dogs showed them what happens at each stage. For example, when a student yelled at Molly the other day, Sam wet on the floor. So I said to the class, 'What happens when we yell and hit?'

"Working with the dogs shows them they're in control of their own behavior, that they can make decisions about how they treat others. A big thing is that life can be changed. How they have been treated in the past doesn't have to be how they treat others."

"We talk about good and bad dogs," he continues. I say, 'Are they bad when they chew? When the puppy goes to the bathroom on the floor, do you rub her nose in it or beat her? Would you do that with your own baby?' They tell me, 'No, the baby doesn't know any better.' I tell them, 'Neither do the dogs. We can't penalize them for their behavior when they don't know any better.'"

Diola says the discussions then can become more personal. "We can lead into a discussion of child abuse by relating it to animal abuse."

A student asks, 'Why does my dad beat me? Why does mom yell at me if that's not the way we're supposed to act with the dogs and with babies?' So I say to them, 'What if you have a baby. Do you have to yell at it?'

Having his students work with the dogs has been "multi-faceted and fun," says Diola. "I try to use every teachable moment with the animals."

DID IT WORK?

And has it worked? You bet. The girls aren't perfectly behaved yet, but they've come a long way in the handful of days they spent with Diola's students.

And what about his kids? Did they learn anything from the experience?

Well, I can tell you this: Sometimes I peek through his classroom window and catch a glimpse of Molly lying peacefully at Eric's feet as he strokes her absently with one hand and does his assignment with the other.

And I walk in just as Scott is holding Bonnie's face in his hands and telling her he loves her.

And I look out my own classroom window to see Tim and Bill and Bob very successfully heeling Molly and Bonnie on the sidewalk in front of the building.

And each day the dogs come to school, Tommy asks me if I need any special help getting them home.

And Terry or Dawn or Craig or one of the others is certain to ask me, "When are Molly and Bonnie coming in this week, Missus Lemmens?"

It is obvious to me that all of them—the dogs and the kids—taught and loved and were taught and were loved.

So, given their experiences at school, I guess it's easy to understand why Molly and Bonnie were so eager to get there on that Thursday.

Loving and learning. Teaching and being loved. What more could anyone ask for her two little girls when she sends them off each day to school?

Scandinavians brought religion, education to lumber town

By Clara Sorenson

In the early 1890s many Scandinavian immigrants, of which a considerable number were Danish, were attracted to Grayling during the height of the lumbering industry. In their home countries they were reared where religious worship and education was a vital part of home and community life which was lacking in their new location.

A congregation was organized April 24, 1892, and formally incorporated as the Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran Church. A Ladies Aid and Sunday School were started with Mrs. Rasmus Hanson as leader. The first Pastor was Rev. A. Henritz from Chicago. Services were in Danish. Olaf Sorenson was installed as chairman of the first church board, with other members: Henry Petersen, Rasmus Rasmussen, Severin Jensen, Anders Mortensen. The church building was erected at 606 Ionia, in the spring of 1893. A church bell was donated by Nels P. Olson.

The parsonage was built next door to the church in 1905. Later that same year the congregation became a member of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America Synod.

In 1908, Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Hanson presented Danebod Hall, 501 Michigan, Ave., as a social auditorium for use of the church festivities. (Dancing around the Christmas tree and serving Danish suppers brings to mind much happiness.) In November of that year, Rev. Peder Kjolhede began 23 years of service. During his stay here, he was Knighted by the King of Denmark. This was a distinct honor for Pastor and congregation.

During the 1930s while Rev. Hans Juhl was our Pastor, English became the norm to attract the young people. Lutheran Junior Aid was organized in 1937 to bring another active group of young women together. They picked upon a lot of activities that had become a hardship to the Senior Ladies Aid. In 1964, they merged to become one LCW (Lutheran Church Women).

In August 1960, this Church and Synod voted to become a member of the newly-created and merged LCA (Lutheran Church in America). On February 10, 1964, the name changed to St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church and voted to move to Danebod Hall, for more space for Sunday School and consolidate activities in one building. (The former church was sold). Much work was done by the men to remodel. The first service was held December 19, 1965, conducted by Rev. Harris Jespersen, who was Pastor until May 1966. The bell came with us. The Baptismal Font from the first church is still being used today.

Rev. Robert Haskel was installed in July, 1966. Danebod became home to St. John until the Spring of 1980, when the congregation and the bell moved to the present location at 710 Spruce Street, to have more rooms for Sunday School and a spacious parking lot. (Former church building on Michigan Ave. was sold to Grayling Baptist). Bishop Heine, Michigan Synod LCA, was the officiating clergy at the dedication on August 17, 1980. Rev. Haskel left St. John in June 1985, to become full time Pastor at Messiah Lutheran Church, Roscommon, until his retirement June, 1991.

In 1985, we became affiliated with the new Evangelical Lutheran Church in America Synod. We are part of North Western Michigan Synod, Reginald H. Holle, Bishop.

Rev. Jerry Mueller served the congregation for three years and left to return to his home in Minnesota. Rev. Robert Gordon accepted our call in June, 1988, and was installed on August 21, 1988, to become our 13th Pastor. Effective June 14, 1992, he will assume pastoral responsibilities elsewhere.

When the church bell rang 100 times on Sunday, April 26, 1992, St. John Centennial was underway, with communion service offered by Rev. Robert Gordon and Rev. James Kocher, assistant to the Bishop. Rev. Robert Haskel was guest speaker. Coffee hour featured "birthday cake."

The Celebration Banquet will be held at Michelson Memorial Methodist Church on June 21, 1992. Bishop Holle will be guest speaker. The congregation will receive a Centennial Recognition Plaque signed by Gov. John Engler which comes to St. John through Michigan Representative

Ralph Ostling.

This congregation is thankful that God has established His Church on earth and called them unto His holiness to continue steadfast in the faith, to increase in love and all good works.

Cards of thanks

Mr. Howard Taylor and the Crawford County Board of Commissioners graciously helped Bear Lake Township, located in Kalkaska County, conduct a successful Gypsy moth spray program.

Township residents had contacted the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Kalkaska County last fall in an effort to conduct a moth spray program. Having been turned down, a few township residents contacted Mr. Taylor and very quickly a program was started with Crawford County and Mr. Taylor's assistance.

We appreciate the help and expertise from Mr. Taylor and look forward to working together next year if the moth problem continues.

We thank the Board of Commissioners for allowing us to participate in the program.

Sincerely,
Bob and Bonnie Isaacs

GHS art student designs Festival card

Grayling: The fun never stops! That's what the cute fellow in the drawing below thinks. This clever drawing was the creation of Grayling High School art student Vicki Griesemer.

Vicki certainly has the right idea about Grayling and all the fun that Grayling offers all the seasons of the year. Vicki dreamed up this design as part of a school art project at the request of her art teacher, Kim Inabinet. Vicki is finishing her ninth grade in Grayling and this was her first art class. The "Garfield" cartoon drawn by Jim Davis is her favorite cartoon. She hopes to pursue a career in cartooning or graphic design when she completes high school.

The GPA AuSable River Festival committee awarded Vicki $25 Grayling dollars for her winning design. Vicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Griesemer.

During the cold winter when AuSable River Festival Parade Committee was planning for ways to encourage participation in the Festival Parade in July the committee decided to begin the promotion with a "ticker" postcard that would be mailed to all potential participants. The committee was looking for something that would be fun, interesting, capture attention, and still get the information across.

The committee decided to contact

Inabinet, the new high school art teacher, and ask if she had some students who might like to create a fun drawing to depict this year's parade theme, "Michigan's Four Seasons."

Inabinet turned this request into a school project that would teach the students about graphic design and how to go about working with a client. Ten students decided to try their hand at graphic design for the parade postcard and submitted drawings for the parade committee to review.

All the drawings submitted were excellent but the committee felt that Vicki's drawing best communicated the "Four Seasons" theme and also made people smile or laugh when they looked at it. Vicki's postcard design was refined and a final draft was made before being sent to the printers to be reproduced. The cards were then mailed out to 400 potential parade participants.

The parade committee has been very pleased with the favorable response from the cards and feels that this fun postcard has encouraged new groups to participate in the July 25th parade.

The committee also salutes all the students who submitted designs: Steve Bugyi, Dan VanNuck, Dawn Nolph, Elizabeth Dickerson, Kelly Harrison, Allison Wirtzes, Bob Hebel, Stacy Straw, and Aubrey King.

Marketplace 29 A.D. returns to Grayling

St. John Lutheran and Michelson Memorial United Methodist churches will host again the unique Bibletimes experience known as Marketplace 29 A.D. Children and participating adults will explore simulated events depicting life during the active ministry of Jesus Christ.

From family clusters, the children will venture forth into the Marketplace, experiencing events and learning about occupations related to that era. Bibletime stories, songs, dances, and games will also be a part of each morning.

This four day event will climax Thursday evening with a potluck meal and celebration ceremony. Marketplace will be held at St. John Lutheran Church, 710 Spruce St., on June 22-June 25, from 9:30 a.m. until noon each day.

Registration will be limited but there is still room available for a few more children. A registration fee of $4 will cover the costs of T-shirts to be decorated during the Marketplace. For more information call St. John's church, 348-2554, or the Michelson church, 348-2974.

Historical museum adds to local farming displays

The farm building has been painted and Bob Ruddy, the curator, has been moving the farm tools and machinery from various places throughout the museum and grounds into the building. So many of the farm implements have been crowded into other areas that it was difficult to display them. With the addition, they will be much more visible. Also featured will be many pictures of the various farms that used to be in the county at Maple Forest, Beaver Creek, South Branch, and Sigbee, as well as Grayling Township.

The museum is acquiring new pictures periodically and with the added space, it keeps the staff busy finding frames and getting them up. Paula Buchanan of the Frame Shop in downtown Grayling, with her helper, Nancy Michelson, have been most generous in helping the museum staff with framing and matting.

48 car seats available through health dept.

The combined efforts of area agencies and individuals will help needy parents obtain car seats for their infants and toddlers.

This community endeavor was accomplished through the work of Marie Mahaney of District Health Department Number 1, Sister Adrian and Jack Harriff of Mercy Health Services North, Judge Tom Davis of Rotary, Dennis Long of the City Police, Mary Ann Bloomquist of American Red Cross and Dave Frederick of Dial-A-Ride. Sufficient funds were donated to allow the purchase of 17 infant and 13 toddler seats.

The car seats will be distributed through the health department's Maternal Support Services program. This program provides medical, nutritional, and social services to expectant Medicaid mothers and their newborns. It also assists in other aspects of pregnancy by providing parenting education, transportation assistance and childbirth classes.

Interested persons may obtain an application for a car seat at the District No. 1 Health Department office in Grayling.

Flood insurance available in city of Grayling

The Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) announced that the City of Grayling is now participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), making flood insurance available to its residents. The community became eligible by adopting flood plain management regulations intended to prevent future losses due to flooding.

Effective May 21, 1992, the community joined the more than 18,000 communities in the United States currently participating in the program. The FIA, a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), administers the NFIP, a self-supporting government program that makes previously unobtainable insurance available to property owners in flood-prone communities at a reasonable price.

Through the NFIP, residents can insure their homes, businesses, and property. The insurance limit, under the regular program, is $185,000 for single-family homes and $60,000 for contents. Renters, while they do not own the properties they live in, can protect their belongings. Businesses can be covered for up to $250,000.

'Eye of the Storm' film featured in Grayling

Eye Of The Storm is the new dramatic movie from World Wide Pictures starring Connie Sellecca (Hotel, P.S. I Luv You) and Jeff Conaway (Taxi, Grease), with Deborah Tucker (Dallas, Happy Campers).

Returning home from covering the Persian Gulf War, award-winning TV journalist, Tom Edwards (Jeff Conaway), and his producer, Patricia "Pete" Peterson (Connie Sellecca) are given the task of "keeping the ratings high."

The best "story" is one which would trash the faith of returning servicemen and women. "The war is over, what role does God play now? Is He out in the open or has He been put back in the closet?" asks Tom in his TV interviews. "Pete" urges him to let God "speak" for Himself.

Tom's real war is at home with his daughter and within his own heart. In the wake of his wife's death, Tom immerses himself in his work, leaving Jill (Deborah Tucker) hurt and alone. Their struggling attempts to reach out to each other serve only to widen the gap between them.

Pastor Ron Voelker and the members of Grayling Assembly of God Church invite the public to attend this new film, on Sunday, June 21, at 6 p.m.

For more information call the church office at 348-8885.

Bits of Talk

Whitey and Thelma Madsen spent from June 5th to the 11th with their Ohio family to attend the graduation of their granddaughter, Tonya Jennifer Dyke, on June 7th from Marion L. Steele High School in Amherst. Due to rain on Saturday night the exercises were moved from the football field to the high school gym. Each student was allowed only four tickets each so the Madsens watched the ceremonies along with John's relatives at their home which was carried on television.

Of the 259 graduating seniors, eleven had a 4.0 or better grade point average. T. J. was fourteenth in the class with a 3.9. She was an honor graduate and a member of the National Honor Society. T. J. received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award for four years, and received a four year Academic Award. She will be attending Akron University this fall and plans on taking up engineering.

John and Toni Dyke spent the weekend here with the Whitey Madsens, and the four attended the wedding of Whitey's niece, Marcie Quay, daughter of Dale and Joan Quay in Gaylord on Saturday.

The Meadows Of Grayling News

By Peggy Studer

Monday the 22nd brought in a new week for the residents at the Meadows — and also the movie/matinee in the afternoon. We watched "Tell It To The Judge" with Rosalind Russell and Robert Cummings.

Every week on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, Bonnie and Tootie come in for coffee group. On Tuesday a dance group came in and danced for the residents. They always enjoy the music and some of them even get in on the dancing.

LouAnn Crosby, Ernie Hale, and Bea and Tom Buchanan came in on Wednesday and helped with the resident birthday party. We had cake and ice cream and sang "Happy Birthday" to the residents with birthdays in the month of June. Wednesday night a group, Sweet Adeline's Chasin' Rainbows came in and sang to the residents. Thursday is Bingo day with Terry Daoust — and always a crowd of residents who try to win a prize off the Bingo cart. Mary Pellegrini and Ethel Horning were among the winners.

This Friday is arts and crafts day. The residents are going to draw a picture of something special or meaningful to them. The week of fun ends Saturday with the residents sitting back and enjoying a manicure.

Poet's Corner

As the time passes—
we go our own ways,
I often wonder where you spend your days.

Life wasn't complete for me —
until you,
It's been almost a year — for 'us' things are still new.

Is it so easy,
my dear friend,
to say this is it —
we're at the end?

After all we've been through — the tears and the smiles, not to mention wedges
and trials.

Neither one of us are perfect nor claimed to be,
you've got to remember my understanding to "your" sorrows.

Have you not noticed
the pain in my eyes, or the echoes of my late night cries.

Wanting to feel the touch of your hand,
terrified to know exactly where I stand.

Letting go is so hard to do,
where am I to start?
Just the thought has torn me apart!

A Man Named Bear

I look at that big building standing there
That once held the dreams of a man named Bear
There once the world's best archery equipment was made
That became the hallmark of the archery trade

For in order to pass Fred Bear's test
Everything they made had to be the best
For if it wasn't perfect that man would know
And into the scrap heap it would go

Soon that equipment won him fame
For only the best bore Fred Bear's name
As an archer Fred was one of the elite
And as a hunter he was a hard man to beat

All over the world game fell to his bow
From the land of the Sultans to the Eskimo
At home in a castle or a humble shack
He was the kind of guest you invited back

For many years things went real fine
And many folks worked on that Bear Archery line
But the years at last wore old Fred down
That brought a lot of sadness to our town

For Fred at last must part with his dream
To those business men who plan and scheme
Folks who had taken such pride in their work
Under those lower standards began to shirk

No longer able to work with a lot of pride
To form a union then they tried
Our town became divided brother against brother
And old friends not speaking to one another

Rather than have things continue that way
The choice was made to move away
Fred now has gone on to heaven above
Many folks here remember him with love
And I'll bet that building that's standing there Still feels the tread of that man named Bear

Through the generosity of C. M. Park, the superintendent of schools at Mt. Pleasant and a summer resident of Grayling, the boys of the city will be having a lot more fun at the swimming hole on the AuSable this summer. The City last Friday completed the installation of the board and about 35 or 40 boys were right on hand to test it. Will ride Goat Friday Night

It takes men of iron nerve — brave they must be — if they are to survive the ordeal of initiation into the Pythian Lodge. Grayling has got the very guys that can stand the racket — 'fraid of nothin.' All are set to straddle the goat. Here's the gang that will be standing on the threshold waiting to pass the portals of Portage Lodge: Ralph Hanna, Elmer, Johnson, Lyle Milks, Charles Gierke, Donald Bennett, Frank Bennett, Forrest Barber, Einer Jorgenson, Byron Newell, Clifford Chappel, Fred Lamm, and Julius Jensen.

A. R. Caid of Lovells, Frank Carpenter of Higgins Lake, Herman Schreiber of Sigsbee, Ira Leonard and William Johnson of this city are driving new Star touring cars.

Mrs. Alva Roberts and Miss Bessie Brown delightfully entertained the F. W. club last evening at a chop suey

The Bible Speaks

From The
Calvary Baptist Church

An Urgent Message to the Churches of America from ... The Persecuted Church in Russia.

"For thirty years we have suffered intense persecution, and now freedom is bringing another great harm to our churches. This damage is coming from the Christians in America who are sending rock music and evangelists accompanied by rock bands."

"Our young people do not attend these meetings because we have all committed not to participate in secular entertainment."

"This is a great burden on our hearts. Many come with Bible in hand and rock music. We are embarrassed by this image of Christianity. We do not know what words to use in urging that this be stopped. We abhor all Christian rock music coming to our country."

"Rock music has nothing in common with ministry or service to God. We are very, very against Christian Americans bringing to our country this false image of 'ministry' to God. We need spiritual bread, please give us true bread, [Bibles] not false cakes. It is true that rock music attracts people to the church, but not to Godly living."

"We were in prison for fifteen years and eleven years for Christ's sake. We were not allowed to have Christian music, but rock music was used as a weapon against us day and night to destroy our souls. We could only resist with much prayer and fasting."

"Now, we have a time of more openness, and we are no longer taken to prison. However, now it is Christians from America who damage our souls. We do not allow this music in our church, but they rent big stadiums and infect teenagers and adults with their rock music."

"We, the leadership and congregations of the Unregistered Union of Churches, the former Persecuted Church, have made an agreement not to allow rock music in our Church. We urge you to join with us and we advise you to remove rock music from America, and certainly do not bring it to our country."

"Do not desecrate our teenagers with it. Even the unbelievers recognize it is unholy music and they cannot understand how American Christians can be so much like the world. We can give you the conclusion that after Russian unbelievers have attended these rock concerts where Christ's Word was preached, the people were very disappointed and disillusioned with Christianity."

"We call this music from hell. We urge all Americans to stop giving money for the organization of such concerts in Russia. We want only traditional Christian music in our churches. This is the unanimous decision of all our leaders."

(This letter was signed by Peter Peters and Vasilij Ryzhuk, leaders of the Unregistered Union of Churches, Moscow, Russia.)

These persecuted Christians of the underground are God's spiritual giants of the 20th century. As American Christians we should prayerfully consider their admonition.

FILLING FATHER'S SHOES

"Clomp, clomp, clomp; this is kinda fun, walking in Dad's shoes, but how does he do it all the time? They are so big and heavy! Will I ever be able to fill them, even in a million years?"

From this young boy's perspective, it seems an impossibility. Yet, nourished by his father physically and spiritually, it is possible that one day he shall be able to fill his father's shoes.

A father possesses great power. Acts 7:51 states, "as your fathers did, so do ye." This Sunday, as we honor fatherhood, may all fathers realize their power, and use it for good; and may their children respect that power so as to grow in the knowledge of their father's wisdom and love.

Let us ultimately remember the power of our Heavenly Father as we worship Him this Father's Day. No one will ever fill His shoes.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover Park Interpreter, Hartwick Pines State Park

The circumstances and the time were right, after giving a tour to one group of students from Sterling, Michigan, and meeting the next group from Port Huron, so I took a portion of the old trail between the Logging Camp and the Chapel.

In late June 1982, the present trail between the two locations mentioned above was black topped and easy access to the old trail was blocked with a criss-cross of logs. These logs are still evident, but they have done their job. There was a time when you could walk the trail in the dark without a light and be able to follow it, because if you strayed off the trail, the ground was soft. The soil in the trail was hand packed and often devoid of any natural covering in the form of leaves or needles.

The old trail now has a thick carpeting of leaves and needles along with the appearance of small maple and beech trees that are only inches tall. There were even Star Flowers in bloom and False-Lily-of-The-Valley was common. It would have been difficult to follow the old route if I had not known where it went. The old trail looks like the surrounding area and demonstrates very nicely that given time and a little help, nature will reclaim what is rightfully hers.

Help offered in purchasing a home

Do you feel that you'll never be able to afford a house? Home ownership may not be beyond your means. The Michigan Initiative program helps make it possible for low and moderate income families to qualify for a home mortgage. It provides education about purchasing a home, cuts the down payment requirement to five percent, and offers more flexible qualifying criteria than conventional mortgages.

If your family's annual income is below $46,920 you may qualify.

To learn about the program enroll in a workshop on shopping for and financing a home. Call the Cooperative Extension Service office at (517) 348-2841, ext 264, or (616) 839-4667.

The next program will be offered in Grayling, Saturday, August 29, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.
